Renasant Launches Veterans Honors Program

TUPELO, MS – Renasant (NASDAQ: RNST) is pleased to announce the launch of the new Veterans Honors Program through their Community Outreach initiative, Renasant Roots.

“Renasant remains committed to offering programs and solutions to assist our customers and clients during these challenging times. We are pleased to demonstrate this commitment through a new financial empowerment program, targeting those valiant men and women, our veterans, who have provided an invaluable service to our country,” says Tracey Morant Adams, Chief Community Development and Corporate Social Responsibility Officer, Senior Executive Vice President.

The initiative will partner with non-profit Veteran outreach organizations across the Renasant footprint to offer webinars on various subjects relevant to those who have experienced challenges and hardships in restarting and/or enhancing their lives following honorable military service. There will be a featured quarterly lunchtime webinar during the months of February, May, August and November. Registration information will be available on Renasant's social media pages.

The first webinar will feature Ms. Rica Lewis-Payton on February 17, 2021 at 12 p.m. (CST). Ms. Lewis-Payton, Master of Health Administration and Lifetime Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives, is the former Mississippi State Medicaid Director and the former CEO of the VA Medical Center of Birmingham, Ala. She has also served as the former Director at Veterans Health Administration and as the former Network Director at the Department of Veteran Affairs in Jackson, Miss. She currently serves as Operations Consultant for the Community Health Center Association of Mississippi, as well as Independent Consultant for Payton Consulting Service.
